

Celebrating our 50th Anniversary of “Thoughtful Practical Engineering”

F&T was started by Edward Fitzmeyer, Sr. and Arthur Tocci in 1961, to provide “Thoughtful Practical Engineering” design and consulting for owners and architects. We started off as a two-person partnership with a small office on State Street in Boston. Our original clients were mostly religious facilities, fire/police departments and other municipal projects. Since that inception, our portfolio has grown to focus primarily on healthcare, educational and science & technology projects.

Over the years the work type has changed but our philosophy of having principals serve as project managers from the start of the project all through construction has not. Ed and Arthur were adamant on providing customers with the best service possible and our 50th Anniversary is testament to our continued loyalty to this fundamental value.

Fitzmeyer & Tocci’s success is accredited to the passion and creativity of our employees and clients. Together, we have had accomplishments and achievements that Ed and Arthur could only dream of when they started the firm. We have been fortunate to be able to work with some of the most professional, knowledgeable and creative individuals in the business.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your continued support over the last 50 years. We look forward to serving the building community for the next 50 years. Please watch for our future newsletters over the coming months where we will feature some of Fitzmeyer & Tocci’s projects from the last five decades.

Thank you again and we look forward to serving you for another 50 years!
